

what to wear

INDIVIDUALS:

I recommend wearing something more bold and colorful with a lot of texture to show off personality. This is an opportunity for your child or yourself to shine. For children, I usually recommend bare feet for indoors and boots or shoes that complement their outfit for outside. The beach is best barefoot and washed denim folded at the bottom. Try to stay away from wearing white and black.

MATERNITY:

I recommend clothing that has texture, such as; knitting, embroidery, dark faded denim, buttons, and ruffles. Also, you can add pops of color with accessories. This type of clothing tends to photograph well and adds a lot of visual interest.

SIBLINGS:

It can be difficult to coordinate colors and not look too “matchy.” I recommend picking a few colors, but try not to put them in the same exact clothing. The more layers, textures and colors, the better. Just pick colors that complement each other. I recommend bright or deep colors (jewel tones like mustard yellow, deep purple, turquoise, dark pink, etc.) and try to stay away from all white. I do recommend investing in your child's clothing for the session since it does make a huge difference in the final product.

FAMILIES:

Choose a style you like and a few colors you like as well. I recommend having the parents dress stylish, yet simple, and focus more on the funky, unique style with the kids. If you have 5 people all dressing with a lot of layers and accessories it can be too much. Dark jeans that have grit to them are always a great choice for the parents or especially the husband. If you are going to wear a print (design), stay away from small prints - there is not a lot of visual interest (think bold). Continue to think about texture and color. You may think that certain colors don't go together, but again think out of the box and have fun. Pinterest has great suggestions, so email me a few ideas and we can figure it out together.
